

Sample Reading

Past

Less than six months ago you started a new era, it was important that you came out of your comfort zones and took a leap of faith, probably not being too sure where you would land. Having done this it was quite difficult and you needed to use focus and discipline in order to keep you on the straight and narrow. There was a tendency to have a very short fuse which was counter productive. You were fortunate in having support around you and there was a sharing of money and resources - you and other people being generous to each other. This was really necessary as every day reality wasn't very easy - money could have been a bit short or just generally material things were breaking down. Coming more into present day times life has been a bit dull, just hard work and nothing particularly exciting happening. However, a new project is just about to start - in fact, it could already have started - which is something that you haven't done before, maybe a hobby which is going to become more important in your life.

Your good luck for the past is that it is an end of an era and you are reaping the rewards for all the hard work you've put in. All the effort has worked in your favour and it's now time to collect.

Past, Present and Future (Celtic Cross)

You are thinking in a new creative way and you are going to have to be very determined as you are changing your ideas, and when that happens the people closest to you invariably put obstacles in your path. This isn't because they don't care about you, it's just that they don't want you to change as it threatens their own security. They need some reassurance that they aren't going to get left behind. However, it is really important that you don't give up as this is something you are really passionate about. You are feeling really restless, you know you can do more with your life and this is the direction you are meant to be going in - you are on the right path. You are wanting a relationship of some kind - this can be business as well as a love relationship and it can also be a reconciliation with someone where there has been a parting of the ways for some reason. In the not too distant past things have been going out of your life, whether it be friendships, relationships or work. You haven't lost anything that has been yours for the future though - the things that have gone had passed their sell by date and were of no benefit to you anymore. Some parts of your life had to go to leave room for the new people and situations to come in. Though you are restless at the moment it is likely to be another 3 months before things really get off the ground - at that time you will be open and more able to help other people and, if you are single, you will be ready for a one to one relationship. It is going to be very important that you keep focused and don't let people get away with things they shouldn't be getting away with because there is a bit of conflict coming up. This isn't major and if you nip it in the bud and deal with it immediately, then it won't grow into a drama.. Don't let anything slide for the sake of an easy life as, in the long run, it will be far from easy. The impression you are giving people is that you have regrets concerning a parting of some sort - things that weren't said or done. You are hoping for some quiet time of meditation or introspection. A time when you can sit quietly and listen to what your inner voice is saying, rather than what other people are telling you. You are coming to a very exciting and adventurous time when your life is going to expand. There could be a move of some sort as well, either home or work - this is a result of the expansion you are feeling. What goes on inside, goes on outside as the saying goes.

Future

It is important that you keep very high ideals and don't accept second best. It's a very powerful time coming up for you - it's time for you to decide what you believe in, what your opinions are and then to stand by them - "walk your talk" and if you've been sitting on the fence, it's time to get off. It's a time of new projects - these can manifest in different ways, you could get married, have a child or start a new project that is very close to your heart and which needs to be nurtured just the same as a spouse or child does. It's a time to nurture yourself and others. It is also time to make plans for the future - far reaching life plans.

You need to decide where you want to be in six months, a year etc. to bring structure to your life - it's not important if those plans change at some point, but the actual structure will help you to focus and achieve more. There's a lot of love in your life showing here in the future - relationships that grow and last a life time. This doesn't just have to be in a love relationship, but extends to the friendships you have made and will make. There is a slight warning here for the future too - be aware of everything you get into, whether this be on working, friendship or relationship levels because if you rush into anything without due consideration, with your rose coloured glasses on, then you will very quickly become disillusioned and will realise that it hasn't turned out the way you expected it. You will only have yourself to blame and this relates back to the first sentence of this future reading - don't accept second best, even if the results will be more instantaneous they won't be as rewarding in the end.

Your good luck for the future is a new project that is starting - something that it's not a bad idea to invest some money in - a hobby that can become or is becoming more, but also looking after yourself on a physical as well as material level. Be very grounded, save money rather than spending it indiscriminately and look at diet and exercise too.

A Sample Question

What is my relationship with X?

You have too much on your plate at the moment and need to get your priorities right. Maybe you're being too helpful and don't have enough time for yourself. You have to learn to say no. There is also the sadness of loss at the moment, but there is a time of new beginnings coming

X is going through a very powerful time at the moment. They are looking at themselves on a non superficial level and asking questions like "Who am I?", "Why am I here?" and "What's my purpose in this lifetime?" They are also having to make major choices and they have to be very mature about it because other people are affected by the choices they make. It's the beginning of a new era for them too - it's as though they are on a precipice and they need to make a decision on what to do next. They really need to take a leap of faith as they are only existing in their current life, they are not really living - it's time for new experiences for them.

The relationship between the two of you needs a lot of serious work. You both have to improve your communication with each other for this to work. There will be conflicts too, but a lot can be achieved if you both express what you will and will not put up with - don't let things slide just to keep the peace. The discussions don't have to be aggressive in any way, especially if they happen before emotions have been allowed to build up. If you take these steps then there is a possibility of peace and tranquility within the relationship. If you aren't together at the moment there can be a reconciliation but this time you both know where your hearts lie and there is a real feeling of dreams about to come true.